

AAIM Offers New Monitoring Service!

Employers today are faced with ongoing obstacles when it comes to making informed decisions relating to safety and risk for their organization. In an era where workplace shootings are frequently in the national media, employers are responding by implementing background screening programs to protect their employees and ensure public safety.

A recent *survey conducted by the National Association of Professional Background Screeners (NAPBS) found:

96% of organizations are conducting background checks on their employees.

89% stated that they conduct checks to protect employees, customers, and the communities in which they serve!

As an employer, it is important to recognize the type of searches in your background checks that you are requesting on an individual. Simply stated, are you doing enough? When was the last time you reevaluated your background checking practices and procedures?

Are you checking different types of sources?

Physical Searches vs. Database Searches

Are you only conducting a database search?

What contributors are in your database?

Do you check individuals ONLY during the hiring process?

To minimize risk within your organization and heighten safety awareness, AAIM now provides a monitoring service. This tool will help continuously monitor your employee pool for changes in criminal activity once the initial background is completed. The criminal monitoring service is available with the National Criminal Supplemental Database Search. This service will check for criminal records monthly and will alert you with status updates.

We are now scheduling FREE, 30-minute, appointments with one of our FCRA experts to review your background checking practices.
